

Your Light Will Guide Me Home

WORDS AND MUSIC BY STEVE NIXON

© 2011 Nixongs

I've carved my words in stone
And placed them gently in the sand
Beneath the light that stands alone
Guarding this broken-hearted land.

I am the Keeper of your light
That burns forever in my heart.
It gives me comfort in the night
And shines a path within the dark

Your light will guide me home.
Your light will guide me home,
Wherever I may be.
On the dark and rolling sea,
Your light will guide me home.

Some days my seas are smooth and calm,
Sometimes I'm battered by the waves.
It's the winds to change that move me on,
But it's the memories that always keep me safe.

CHORUS

Somewhere I'm still a part of you.
You'll always be a part of me.
While I am just a lonely sail,
You are the land, the air, the sea.

You are the light that guides me home.
You are the light that guides me home,
Wherever I may be.
On the dark and rolling sea,
You are the light that guides me home.